Sichere und schonende Sortierung

Would you like to order pick products carton by carton and then sort them using route grouping for dispatch? No matter whether you are in pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, the distribution of automotive parts or any other sector, which dispatches small parts orders in containers: With a broad range of in-house technologies, we cover all possible solutions.

Intelligent control and technology is of key importance in this regard. Only when every component fits in smoothly with the rest of the system and performs up to capacity, then these components form a storage system that makes a difference in the success of a company.

In addition to the safe and careful handling of the goods, we also put a lot of emphasis on the ergonomic design of the interface between user and conveyor technology. Therefore, we achieve maximum performance and efficiency for those employees in loading and a short retention time of the lorries/delivery vehicles at the loading ramp.

With our large range of services in intralogistics, we think in systems and complete solutions that increase your efficiency and long-term success.
